LUTHERAN MEETINGS TO CLOSE TODAY

Yesterday the Sessions Are Honored By the Presence of Dr. Burgess—Rev. Dr. C. B. King Makes a Few Remarks

SESSIONS ARE HELPFUL

One of Features of the Convocation Is the Sermon Delivered By the Newly Ordained Rev. Andres Baloska, Jr. — Local Folk Are Entertaining

The sessions of the Slovak Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the United Lutheran church in America, which are being held in the Slovak Lutheran church of St. John the Baptist at Seventh street and Lincoln avenue, were to close today.

Yesterday the sessions were honored by a number of distinguished visitors, among whom were Rev. Dr. Burgess, President of the U. L. C. A., of which he is a member of the Executive committee. Rev. Burgess represented Rev. Dr. Knobel, president of the great body United Lutheran church. In his address he spoke on the convocation and its real help in its dealings with the great problems of ministering to scattered Lutherans over the whole United States. Rev. Dr. A. L. Ramer of Allentown, Pa., Superintendent of the Immigrant Mission Board, spoke at length on the extension work being done by the missions. He reported 17 Slovak students preparing for the needy field. Rev. Dr. C. B. King, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, was present and also made remarks.

Tuesday evening, at the special church services, the sermon was delivered by the newly ordained Rev. Andres Baloska, Jr., assisted by Rev. John M. Bellan of Northampton, Pa. Andre Graycar presided at the organ and solos were rendered by the choir of the local church assisted by the choir of the church of Rev. Paul A. Putro of Irwin, Pa.

The work of the convention has progressed through all the reports of the officers and the different committees, and was one of the most successful ever held.

The local Slovak Lutheran church, ministering to a widely scattered constituency from Donora, Brownsville and Fredericktown, is doing a wonderful work under the four years' pastorate of Rev. A. B. Svasko. The building of a new church and pastorate is contemplated.

The delegates, together with the visiting pastors are being entertained at the homes of the members of the congregation, and the meals are furnished in the church basement, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Svasko.

PROMOTERS OF THE SHOW ARE FINED

At a hearing before Alderman J. B. White the three men arrested in connection with an alleged Red meeting at Monessen—Charles S. Roberts of Chicago, Morris Schindler and Oscar Okkonen of Monessen, were fined $50 and costs each.

According to the police the men were exhibiting a picture showing scenes in Russia and advocating adherence to the red flag and sympathy for the late Premier Lenin. The audience of 150 persons roundly applauded the red flag when it was thrown on the screen, but the American flag brought forth not the least semblance of enthusiasm.

The police confiscated the film and arrested the three alleged promoters. They failed to produce a certificate of the censor, nor was the censorship seal shown on the screen. The license issued to the film was investigated by Joseph A. Berrier, a representative of the State Board of Censors, who was present at the hearing, and according to his findings the license had been issued two years ago for a comedy film entitled "Katydid."

LIQUOR FOUND IN CAR WHEN THE DRIVER IS ARRESTED

J. C. Williams, 38 years of age, of Waynesburg, while driving through Bentleyville today at noon was placed under arrest by Chief of Police H. B. Lake on charges of driving while intoxicated and for the transportation of liquor. At a hearing held before Justice of Peace George Beck shortly after his arrest, he was held for the August term of court in the sum of $1,000. The man is now in jail awaiting the furnishing of his bail.

Liquor was found in the man's car, when he was taken into custody. He was accompanied by his wife and child.

Alleged Robbing Is Work Of Some Wags

The alleged robbery of four members of the Golden Gate orchestra, as related in the Mail of yesterday, has proved to be a hoax—the work of some wags.

Yesterday the members of the orchestra were notified by telephone to congregate at a named point and recover their valuables. All had secured their possessions last night.

SENIOR CLASS IN A BASKET PICNIC

The Senior A. class of the Charleroi High School enjoyed a basket picnic at Oakland park yesterday afternoon. Eleven members of the class composed of seventeen were present, all of whom spent a delightful time in dancing on the station platform to music furnished by a phonograph. They motored to the park at 5 o'clock and at 6 o'clock a supper consisting of all seasonal delicacies was served.

Pennsylvania Pharmacists Are To Convene At The County Seat

The Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association will hold its state convention in Washington next year. This was announced in a telegram received in Washington yesterday by Frank H. Berthel, president of the Chamber of Commerce, from the committee which has been at Bethlehem, where the association is in session, in the interests of an effort to get the state pharmacists to meet there next year.

Those who went to Bethlehem were L. S. Vowell, for many years in the drug business at Washington; succeeded by Valentine & Murray; Geo. R. Valentine, of the Valentine & Murray pharmacy; Frank C. Lewis, of the Lewis pharmacy; and Harry R. Campbell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

SPEAKS HIGHLY OF THE LADY AND COMPANY

Miss Bert Humphreys and the Dancing Buddies Musical Comedy company came to Charleroi, as we understand it, for a week's engagement. Manager Harry Barnhart was of the opinion that he was fortunate in securing the lady and company in any event. But they are here—and what is better, in the opinion of the public which they have so immensely pleased, will remain for still another week after this week, which will make their tenure in Charleroi one of three weeks. Whether Manager Barnhart and the Palace fans can hold them longer, is up to Harry and the "fans."

Assuming the editorial prerogative, it is splendid attestation of the ability of any traveling organization when it is held in a place because of the insistent demand made upon it by the patrons of the theatre. This is prima facie evidence that the company has something "up its sleeve," bills that the people appreciate, and its varied speaks volumes of the merits of Miss Humphreys and her company.

Next week, Chester C. Humphreys, a brother of Miss Humphreys, will add to the attraction incident to the company appearing here by the presentation during the week of his 40-voice choral society.

POLICE PATROL BRADY W. VA., IN WAGES DISPUTE

Morgantown, W. Va., June 19. — State police today patrolled Brady, a little mining town in the mountains near here, following a pitched gun battle between the striking miners and company guards of the Brady-Wagner Coal company.

One man was injured in the battle, which lasted from midnight until 3 o'clock this morning. The Union hall was destroyed by fire, and many of the miners' homes were literally shot full of holes.

Four blasts of dynamite rocked the town, and between 500 and 600 shots were exchanged between the strikers and the guards. Women and children in the company houses were forced to seek refuge in cellars to escape the hail of bullets that tore through the flimsy structures.

The Brady mine recently went on an open shop basis, and when the union miners refused to accept a cut in wages, the company brought in non-union men. A vote taken by strikers to drive the non-union men from the settlement last night started the trouble.

Sheriff Yost of Morgantown, who went to the scene of the shooting with a force of deputies, returned at dawn with four prisoners. He said everything now was quiet with state police in control of the situation.

Convulsions Seize Company Head—May Die

Frederick McGill, aged 50 years, district manager of the Pittsburgh Provision and Packing company, while driving towards Charleroi in a Willys-Knight roadster, was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit late yesterday afternoon and was brought to the borough building by Harry Davis, driver of the Woodward Furniture and Carpet company, and Elmer Robb, an employee of the company, where his identity was learned, and rushed to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital in the ambulance. He lies in the hospital still unconscious, with little hope for his recovery entertained.

Evidently feeling the attack approaching, McGill pulled his car off the highway near the crossroads on the Charleroi-Bentleyville road, and there was found by passersby in convulsions. He was brought to Charleroi by the truck driver, and his identity learned from papers on his person. He resides in Euclid avenue, Pittsburgh. His wife was immediately summoned, and she and a son are now at the hospital, awaiting the decision of Providence and Fate.

BELIEVE REVENGE PROMPTED A DYNAMITING ACT

New Castle, June 19.—Bootleggers seeking revenge are believed responsible for the dynamiting of the home of County Detective J. M. Dunlap here early today.

State police rushed here from Butler barracks, and started a search for the bombers, who planned a heavy charge of dynamite under the house. Dunlap, his wife and young son were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom, but beyond a severe shaking up none of the Dunlap family was injured. Dunlap was active lately in liquor law enforcement against foreigners, police said.

Boaz, Raymond Horner And Tom Dodsworth Operated For Many Years Between Cities of Pittsburgh And Louisville, Kentucky

WORK HAS BEEN STARTED

With Labor's Completion, Three of the Oldest And By Far the Largest Lower River Steamers Will Have Passed From the River Annals

Dismantling of the Boaz, Raymond Horner, and Tom Dodsworth at an abandoned mooring place near the Elizabeth Marine Ways, where the boats have lain inactive for more than 10 years, has been started and with the completion of this work three of the oldest and by far the largest lower river steamboats will have passed for all time from river annals and become sentimental history to many rivermen. The immense boats standing like ghosts along the shore line, long since passed their period of usefulness, owing to long years of continual use and decay, which have done irreparable damage to them.

The Boaz is likely the oldest of the three crafts and was probably better known in the coal trade along the Monongahela river than the other two. It was built by the Thomas Fawcett Sons Co., of Pittsburgh, about 1865, at a cost of approximately $50,000. Under the ownership of individual river trade companies it operated on the lower rivers between Pittsburgh and all southern points on the Ohio and Mississippi.

The Boaz passed into the hands of the Crescent Coal company. When the Pittsburgh Coal company bought out this firm the Boaz went into the hands of the latter company and was operated on the lower river until about 15 years ago when the boat was abandoned. After lying in Pittsburgh for several years it was brought back up the Monongahela and securely moored on this side of the river above Elizabeth. The engines and all machinery were removed. According to experienced rivermen the Boaz was one of the best known boats from Pittsburgh south as far as Louisville.

The Boaz was one of the most powerful boats in the river coal trade and by many is considered as a more powerful boat than any of the present day craft on the Monongahela. The Raymond Horner, another of the abandoned boats, was built by Horner Roberts, of Elizabeth, in 1882 at a cost of $85,000 and was an Ohio and Mississippi river boat, termed by rivermen as "lower river" craft. Krossnoff let a little infield fly slip from his waiting grasp, causing a run, and Consonery failed on two flies to left field, both hard chances; but he got his hands on the sphere and should have caught the ball. The scorer gives him but one error, but he should be credited with two. The visitors won the contest on the errors of the home club, and minus an earned run. The locals got their one tally through a hit made by Smith which went through Conley's legs, and an ordinary single was credited with a three-bagger, Smith scoring on the throw-in, which went wild.

Bullet Joe Miller, who has been seen on the Charleroi diamond before, was on the mound for the Consumers. Miller was never a puzzle before, but he was good last night, and his support was gifted. Beatty pitched good ball, and would have won with any kind of hitting behind him and the support to which his efforts were entitled. Smith and the Phillips did some fine fielding.

CORSAIRS WIN WHEN
MANAGER McKECHNIE TRIES
OUT SOME NEW PLAYERS

Desperate measures were adopted by Bill McKechnie in an effort to ditch the hoodoo which for so long has been holding a silencer upon the Buccaneer bats, and when he sent several of the slumbers to the bench and trotted out his secondary defense this patched-up team, with a bushier in the box, defeated the Braves in the last contest of the disastrous eastern trip. The score was 4 to 3, and the victory brought an even break for the two games at the club, and newbies sent some cheer into the hearts of the accarouns.

Looking back over the spring raining trip, Skipper McKechnie decided that it might be well to try at his scrubs. They made a fine record in their early manoeuvres on the Pacific Coast and won some notable combats in decisive style. By giving them another opportunity to distinguish themselves surely no harm could result at any rate they couldn't do worse than the regulars have been doing.

It was a case of making for any old port in a storm and the experiment worked out to a charm. It was a typical Yankee outfit that the Boston fellows had to face.

Eddie Moore took the station which had been occupied in the doubleheader of Tuesday by Pie Traynor, who was placed upon the bench. Not only did the former Atlanta snortstop play third base but he also topped the batting order. Caver, Cuyler, Wright and Grimm followed in succession and each was assigned to his customary position. Carson Bigbee was ordered to rest and Walter Mueller occupied left field with Maranville on second base and batting next to the catcher. With Emil Yde pitching, Cuyler in right, Mueller in left, Moore at the hot corner and Wright, who is making his first attempt at first company in the short field, the Pirates presented a decidedly Yankee aspect. The nine Corsairs who started the contest remained gamely to the finish. However, four of the old guard in Caver, Grimm, Maranville and Schmidt were left on the job to steady the rookies.

SUPER FILM

"Why Men Leave Home" is entertainment par excellence. Not only does it contain a story that for speed and humor cannot be excelled, being from the pen of that master farceur, Avery Hopwood, but it possesses lavish and tasteful setting that for all round capability cannot be equaled. Headed by the magnetic Lewis Stone and the fascinating Helene Chadwick, the cast numbers Mary Carr, William V. Wong, Alma Bennett, Hedda Hopper, Sidney Bracy, Lila Leslie, E. H. Calvert and Howard Truesdell.

If you want to find out why men leave home go to the Majestic Theatre tonight. You'll enjoy every foot of the picture.

Checkers

In England the game of checkers is known as draughts; in France, jeu des dames; Holland, damrod; Poland, dama; in the Arabic of Egypt, damah. The recurrence of the forms of "dame" is attributed to the fact that part of the board and some of the draughts of Queen Hathasa, daughter of Thothmes, who lived in Egypt 1600 B. C., were found.

"Life" of a Magnet

The life of a permanent magnet magnetized in any manner whatever has never been determined. A magnet made of the best quality steel, properly heat treated and aged and used under the best conditions of service would probably deteriorate only a negligible amount in the lifetime of a single observer.

THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman would take your wonderful medicine as it has done much good to me. I had cramps and faint spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed all the time, and when I started to brush up I would give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven, still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel all right all the time. My housework is all I do in summer, but in winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me, and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound."

—Mrs. SAMUEL MURPHY, 219 Cecil St., Dover, Delaware.

BEWARE OF FORGERS.

Despite the fact that the bad check artist has been displaying his talents and plying his nefarious designs, with the business men of the valley usually as victims, merchants will, in slang parlance, "fall" for this fellow, and apparently will not live to learn and profit by the machinations of this omnipresent rascal.

There is no bigger scoundrel unkind than the chap who will betray his fellowman through the forgery method, using the unsuspecting business man as his victim. The mystery is that the old and thread-bare game is worked so successfully. Merchants, as a class, are shrewd business men, and why they will accept checks from strangers is beyond our ken. The fact that the ostensible giver is a responsible citizen of the community, does not safeguard the merchant.

When the unknown steps into your place of business, Mr. Merchant, buys a bill of goods, and tenders a check in payment for twice, thrice, the amount of the bill, bearing the signature of a man of the community, or a firm or company, make immediate investigation before you let the man leave the establishment with the "customary change." There is no reasonable excuse for the business man being victimized with the means at his command to make investigation.

This bad check artist found Charleroi a prolific field last year; his efforts seem to meet with wellnigh full fruition of success this year. The only safe method is to compel the stranger to pay "cash" for his purchases—or keep the goods. It is better to have them on the shelf than to have the coin of the realm which they represent jingling in the pockets of knaves and scoundrels who live by "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain."

Submarine Thawing

The use of electricity for thawing frozen water pipes in city houses is no longer uncommon, but an unusual undertaking in this relation was the application not so long ago of the process to a six-inch submarine main, 1,700 feet in length, connecting North Brother Island with New York city. When an ordinary water pipe is to be thawed both ends are cut and the passage of a comparatively small electric current through the resistant pipe metal generates sufficient heat to melt the ice in the pipe. Although the same general plan was followed with the frozen submarine main, all the conditions were so different that it took five days of applying powerful electric currents and of a constant pumping with the pressure of eighty pounds to do the work.

She Was an Expert

"Julia, do you know what love is?" The lovesick man put the question in an intense voice.
"Yes," replied the fair maid, firmly.
"But do you really know?" he asked again. "Have you ever been the object of a love undying as the sun, as all-pervading as the air, as wonderful and sparkling as the stars? Have you ever loved and been loved like that, Julia?"
In an agony of suspense he waited for her reply.
"Have I?" she presently murmured, staring thoughtfully into the glowing fire. "If you will come up into our bedroom I can show you a trunk full of letters and three albums full of photographs, and in my jewel case are several engagement rings."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Big Supply of Admirals

Much prestige attaches to high positions in France and there is much comment on a peculiar situation that has developed under the reduction of naval armament. France having seven first-class battleships, but eighty-six admirals and rear admirals on the active list for duty. The only situation like it is in Mexico, says the Ohio State Journal, where in the present rebellion six generals were assigned to a command of seven hundred soldiers, a reserve force that was moving toward the battle ground, but France hopes to work her way out of her situation with no loss of dignity.

Enrich Your Blood With This Newer Form of Iron

For many years physicians and chemists experimented to produce a newer form of iron, like the iron in meat that was easily assimilated. They realized that the old metallic iron often blackened the teeth and upset the stomach. Their examinations proved that three people out of every four were deficient in iron content in the blood and that thousands were weak, sick, nervous, ailing and run-down, and suffering from all sorts of alarming symptoms, when as a matter of fact their trouble was all due to iron starvation of the blood. At last they discovered this newer form of iron, like the iron in concentrated form. It quickly helps put strength into your muscles and color into your cheeks. Get your doctor to take your red blood count today, then take this newer form of iron known as Nuxated Iron for a few weeks and watch your red blood corpuscles increase; see how much purer and richer your blood becomes; how much stronger and better you feel; what difference it makes in your nerves. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. Your money will be refunded if you do not obtain satisfactory results. In tablet form only. At all druggists.

was rising, and sending forerunners

before Drumsheugh crossed the thresh-

The Old Almanac

Advertisement was not always the chief function of almanacs. They were first of all, calendars of the days and months, the changes of the moon, and of other astronomical happenings.
They supplied a widespread demand for weather lore, its truth or untruth being of minor consideration. To that were added literary and informative features. "Poor Richard" enjoyed wide popularity and was famous by reason of his homely wisdom. Last, but not least, it held high place as the family joke book, the excellence of its witticisms being often proved by their longevity. In many a backwoods pioneer home the annual almanac was the sole literary refuge, taking the place of all other books, and never, perhaps, was any other book or periodical so read, re-read and digested.

to the C. Jutte Coal Co., of Pittsburgh, and when this company was sold to the Pittsburgh Coal company, the Raymond Horner was transferred to the latter company's fleet and continued to operate for many years between Pittsburgh and Louisville. Many of the older rivermen from this district worked on the Raymond Horner. This boat is possibly somewhat larger than the Boaz or the third boat, the Tom Dodsworth, and was a powerful coalfleet towing craft. Work of dismantling the Raymond Horner was started by the Pittsburgh Coal company several years ago and all machinery was removed. The boat since that time has stood with the Boaz and the Tom Dodsworth awaiting further dismantling.

The Tom Dodsworth was built about 1875 at Pittsburgh and cost about $85,000. It was also a "lower river" boat and engaged in the river trade between Pittsburgh and Louisville, usually handling coal or a mixed cargo until 10 years ago when it joined the Boaz and the Raymond Horner, having outlived its usefulness. It will not be started until the work on the other two boats is well under way. They tanked with such old and well known boats as the John B. Walton, Coal City, Smoky City, W. W. O'Neil, Little Fred, Tom Reese, Tom Wilson, John A. Wood, S. L. Wood, Lawrence D. Baker and the J. B. Finley. At the height of the river coal trade at Pittsburgh more than 100 boats of the calibre of the powerful Boaz were located at Pittsburgh and operated in the lower river.

Cartoon in Punch Aided Wilkie Collins to Fame

Wilkie Collins was the son of William Collins, a successful landscape painter, and was brought up in comfort. After school at Highbury the family went to Italy for three years, a useful part of the experience of a future novelist. On return to England Collins was attracted to the sea trade, and later graduated in law, being called to the bar in 1843, but he soon abandoned this for letters.

A life of his father was more noted for its anecdote than for its literary finish. Other books followed, and his great success came in 1860, with "The Woman in White." There were feeble imitations on all sides, with women of all the colors of the rainbow rushing into print.

Punch paid the book an inimitable tribute in which an absorbed stout man turned, startled at the question from a woman in night attire: "And pray, Mr. Tompkins, how much longer are you going to sit up with that 'Woman in White'?"

Collins was henceforth hailed a master in his own craft, highly paid and the idol of thousands of readers. His skill in titles was no mean asset, as in "No Name," "The Frozen Deep," "The Moonstone," "Blind Love," and "The Dead Secret."—Toronto Globe.

Memorial Stamps for 1926

The United States Postal Service has announced plans for a series of memorial postage stamps. They will be issued in 1926 to commemorate 150 years of independence.

It is surmised that there will be at least three new designs—a 1-cent, a 2-cent and a 5-cent stamp.

One of these postage stamps, which will be sold by millions that year, will show Independence hall. Another will have upon it the Liberty bell.

For the third a replica of the painting showing the signers of the Declaration has been suggested.

If left for Philadelphia to choose this city could name something better than that picture, which on a postage stamp would be too small.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

From the Bottom Up

A young man just back from college was dispensing his newly acquired wisdom to a crowd of his townsmen, most of whom were older than himself.

"We all have to begin at the bottom and go up," he observed, sagely. "Yes," agreed Bob Markham, a droll, illiterate fellow, standing at the outer edge of the crowd. "We begun at the bottom of everything 'cept one." "What's that, Bob?" demanded the collegian.

"Diggin' a well."—Everybody's.

Mixed Titles

A high school boy asked a librarian for a copy of "Venus and Adonis." A search through books on physiology failed to reveal any such title. He was asked if he knew the author, and replied, "Why, Shakespeare, I guess." It was discovered he wanted "Venus and Adonis." This is comparable to the woman who wanted "She Sat in the Wood Box"—which was found to be "The Sunnyside Box."

A Speed Artist

Mike was engaged to do a job of painting for Mr. Smith. After a while he came in saying the job was completed and asked for his money.

"But Mike, I waited two coats on that building. I'll pay you after the second coat," said Smith. "You've got it," said Mike. "I mixed the first coat with the paint for the second and put on both coats at the same time. Speed is my motto."

"Possibly"

"Then I'm to tell the firm," the bill collector said, making a memorandum in his book, "that you'll probably set the account next week."

"Well, I'd hardly put it like that," answered the other, hesitatingly. "Probably" is a pretty strong word. Better make it "possibly."
